Campus To Get New Men's Dormitory

Annual Choir Presentation To Prelude Holiday Season

Frederick Alexander Will Direct Vocalists In One Of His Last Appearances December 7

The annual Christmas concert will furnish a brilliant prelude to the holiday season when the curtain is raised the evening of December 7 on the 31st in the long series of Frederick Alexander's vocal presentations on the Normal campus. Director Alexander predicts "it will be finer than ever before".

Admission tickets may be obtained from members of the choir, at the desk in McKenny Hall, and at the doors on the evening of the concert. The price is twenty-five cents and there are no reserved seats. In past years the conservatory has been packed and the S. R. O. sign placed out:

The entire concert will be repeated in Birmingham the following night, December 8, at the Baldwin High School with tickets selling at one dollar.

Long characteristic of this Christmas festival is the beautiful prelude by the children's choir singing the old French and English carols. A group from Wayne High School (coached by Virginia Mutter) will sing "The First Nowell" with Irving Bush as tenor soloist. "At Last Thou Art Come, Little Saviour" by Thomas Adams, presents the boys of St. Luke's choir, coached by Mrs. Wortley. And from Roosevelt High School comes a group to offer "Il est ne" an old French noel, coached by Miss Ashby, with clarinet accompaniments played by William Griss and Oscar Huyghe.

Singing without accompaniment, as customary at these concerts, the Normal choir opens their part of the program with three Russian church hymns: Gretchaninoff's "O Praise the Name of the Lord," "The Thief on the Cross" and "Salvation is Created" by Tschesnokov. Like cries for mercy are the next two compositions, "Christe Eleison" and "Gospodi pomilui." In a different vein the choir sings three folk songs: "Stille Nacht" with Robert Luscombe as soloist, "The Virgin's Slumber Song," and "Chanson Joyeuse." "Let My Prayer Come Up" by Purcell, "Mid-Winter" by Holst, Cornelius' "The Three Kings," and "Ave, Maris Stella" by Grieg concludes the first portion of the program.

The Madrigal Club consists of a select group of vocalists from the ranks of the Normal choir, and it is this organization that is heard next. They tell of "The Nightingale," "The Irish Ho-Hoane," "The Lark," "Tambourin," and "The Silver Swan".

Drag Tickets Sell Rapidly As Union Prepares For Dance

Still a week to go before the Yule Log Drag and already the committee reports that only a few tickets remain to be sold. The hard work of the committee is bringing superlative results, and the predicted "full-house" is rapidly becoming a fact.

Chairman Ralph Hubbard is still vehement in his praise of the Men's Union party, and the certainty of a "swell" time is assured and guaranteed. Further guarantee of a good time is the picture of Tommy Marvin's soloist which was on the poster in McKenny Hall, and for the girls—there is Tommy himself.

The picture of Tommy Marvin's soloist was such a banner attraction that some admirer was unable to resist the temptation of kidnapping it. In fact the picture was scarcely posted before nothing remained there but an empty gap where once was a beautiful lady. Ralph Hubbard voiced his protests and uttered ominous threats. For the first time in years he visited the frat house across the street but returned empty handed, of course.

The sale of tickets started off rapidly. In the first half hour more than fifty were sold.

Mary Harris Piano Soloist In Final Symphony Of Season

In presenting the last symphony concert of the current season Mr. Fossenkemper has selected some excellent and varied works that are bound to please any music lover. The concert will begin at four o'clock this Sunday in Pease auditorium.

A day in old Austria re-created in "Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna" by Suppe and will be the initial offering. Next will be Answell's "Children's Suite" to be followed by a group of three: "Irish Tunes from County Derry" and "Handel in the Strand" by Grainger, and the popular "Mala-guena" of Lecuona.

Mary Harris, the piano soloist on the program, will play "Rhapsodie d'Auvergne" by Saint-Saens. Concluding the concert the orchestra will be heard in the "Invitation to the Dance" by von Weber.

Miss Harris, a member of the senior class, is from Leroy, New York. She is specializing in music and is a transfer student from Oberlin College in Ohio. She came to Ypsilanti in her sophomore year.

Yuletide Sing Ushers In Holidays

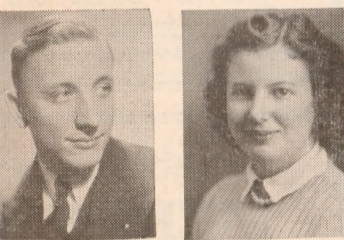

Dec. 14 Set For Caroling Groups Urged To Join College Gathering

Imparting color and spirit to pre-vacation lethargy, the second annual Christmas Sing will set the stage for holiday festivity on the evening of December 14 when the college gathers in Pease auditorium to carol the season in.

Following the precedent set a year ago by the senior class, the June graduates are planning to carry out the popular idea of the Sing in accordance with last year's setup. Patterned closely after the All-Campus Sing which occurs in the spring, the Christmas song festival differs from it in that it includes in its program only music suited to the season.

Evelyn Mueckler and Al Bohms, both senior music students, are serving as co-chairmen. Assisting them are Jean Sayre and Irving Kidd, working on decorations; Stephanie Ryznar, ushers; Elton Powell, programs; Mary Louise Boyden, publicity; Carl Johnson, lighting; and Howard Wigell, contact man.

Groups are urged to indicate their intentions of participating immediately. At present only five entries have been filed, and because the committee is pushing work on the program, it is necessary that it know as soon as possible how many groups must be included. In order to be in the sing, it is necessary only to contact Howard Wigell, indicating the desire of the group represented to take part. Besides the popular Campus Choristers, groups who have signified their intention to take part are the Y. W. C. A. and Theta Lambda Sigma, Pi Delta Theta, and Sigma Sigma Sigma sororities, and the Zeta Chi Sigma fraternity.

SENIOR MIXER FRIDAY

Plans have been completed for the senior class mixer to be held tomorrow night in McKenny Hall ballroom. Cards were mailed to members of the senior class. If any member failed to receive one, he should contact Clyde Proctor or Orville Barnes. Each senior is entitled to bring one guest.

Orville Barnes and Marjorie Lester are the co-chairmen in charge of the mixer.

State Board Gives Approval For Latest College Building

Dorm To House 216 Men; Expect To Start Work By January To Complete By Next Fall

A new men's dormitory with room for about 216 students is the latest building project for Michigan State Normal College, it was made known last week when the State Board of Education approved the new structure which will cost close to $275,000.

The dormitory will be built west of the Rackham School of Special Education. The ground upon which it will be constructed has been staked out for some time, since efforts were made to have the building previously financed by a P.W.A. grant.

The financing of the building will be in charge of the Ann Arbor Trust Company and a self-liquidating process will be employed. It is expected that construction will start no later than in January of 1940 in order that the dormitory will be ready for the men when they return next fall.

Official confirmation of the financing was made known here Tuesday.

R. S. Gerganoff, Ypsilanti architect and designer of several other of the recent additions to the campus, is drawing up the plans for the dormitory. It will be built along lines similar to the girls' dorms. Rooms will be arranged in much the same fashion, mostly in suites of two rooms although there will be a few singles.

The men's dormitory will not provide for a full boarding schedule. The Union is expected to handle the food problem for most of the boys. However, a lunch-room grill which will be equipped to serve breakfasts and short orders will be installed.

Although it is far too early to set any price for rooms, it is believed that probably about the same price as paid by the girls now will be charged.

For the graduating senior of this year, the dormitory marks the seventh new building to be constructed on the campus during his college stay. The Briggs field house with its baseball field and stands, the Health Residence, Bertha Goodison Residence Hall, Julia Anne King Residence Hall, Rackham School of Special Education, the new workshop and garage now under construction, and the men's dormitory make a total of seven. During the past ten years more than two million dollars have been spent in the construction of new building on this campus.

James Pollock Assembly Speaker

Political Scientist To Talk On Europe

Dr. James K. Pollock, widely known authority in political science and professor at the University of Michigan, will speak on what is happening in Europe at the general assembly Tuesday morning at 10 in Pease auditorium.

Dr. Pollock has spent quite a bit of time in Germany, speaks the language very well, and understands the temperament of the people. He was a member of the international committee engaged in the settlement of the Saar plebiscite.

In Michigan he was a member of the board that drew up the civil service law that existed in this state not long ago.

Well-acquainted with the entire situation, Dr. Pollock should be able to answer a number of questions that rise in the minds of students during these crucial times. His information can at least be counted as reliable and unbiased.

At a recent talk before an Ypsilanti audience, Dr. Pollock gave his predictions of the final outcome of the European conflict. His forecasts were based on a continuous observation of the strife from its early origin to the present day.

Geography Prof Dies Suddenly

Miss Wilson Taught Here Since 1903

A life dedicated to endless service and intellectual pursuit was brought to a close last Friday, when Miss Ella Mary Wilson, professor in the geography department here, passed on suddenly of a heart attack.

Miss Wilson had been connected with the college for 36 years, her first association here in the capacity of an instructor having taken place in 1903 when she was appointed fifth grade teacher at Roosevelt High School.

Born in Hanover, Michigan, Miss Wilson attended Michigan State Normal College during summer sessions, and her excellent ability both as a student and teacher caught the attention of Dimon H. Roberts, then superintendent of the training school, and Miss Wilson was appointed by him to take over the work of fifth grade. Meanwhile she attended Michigan State Normal College during summer sessions, and her excellent ability both as a student and teacher caught the attention of Dimon H. Roberts, then superintendent of the training school, and Miss Wilson was appointed by him to take over the work of fifth

Dean Brown Offers Praise For 'Best Union Program In Last Five Years'

"The best Men's Union program in the last five years — a real fine meeting", drawled the Bay State Dean of Men, James M. Brown in doing out his few words of praise for the recent Union variety show, held Tuesday morning November 21 in McKenny Hall.

Enriched by the experienced entertainers of the Campus Choristers and the newly-invigorated band, the show dug up a large quantity of unusual talent, hitherto virtually unknown.

John Grant, towering football tackle and boxing champ, stole the show with his fine singing and had to respond to the applause and whistling of the delighted audience. Another outstanding unit of the show was the super jazz-band with its trumpet player, Whitey Hlad, and drummer Bill Hanford, guitar, Ted Webb, and pianist Bob Rye.

Neville Hughes, chancellor of the Men's Union, violated his oath that women would have no part in the program when Bernice Sayres appeared with Ed Rosenswag of the Bronx in a jitterbug exhibition. Edward Poly served as master of ceremonies and helped to keep the packed house in the best of temper. He not only served as MC but accompanied John Grant with the guitar and was a member of the old time barber shop quartet which he, Mac Valteau, Paul Ward, and Gibson Brown composed.

The announcement of the possibilities of such a show following the Christmas holidays for the entire student body to be conducted as a Varsity show was received with a tremendous ovation. Numerous requests for pushing the plan for such a show have been received by the Union from girls on the campus.

According to Mr. Hughes, the girls would like to conduct a similar show among themselves; then combine the efforts of both groups for one big show in Pease auditorium. Herr Hughes pointed out the fault in the girls' demands. "The desire for a variety show comes from all the girls, not from committees in charge. There's the rub."

Entertainment For All Is Goal Of Sponsors Of Christmas Frolic

The Social Committee of Michigan State Normal College and the Management of Charles McKenny Hall requests the pleasure of your company at the Christmas Frolic Saturday evening, the second of December at nine o'clock Charles McKenny Hall

Entertainment for all is the goal of the social committee and the management of McKenny Hall in extending an invitation to all students of Michigan State Normal College to attend their Christmas Frolic at McKenny Hall, Saturday evening, December 2. The building will be open to the students and various forms of entertainment provided.

Those who wish to dance will find an orchestra in the ballroom for modern dancing. A flight down will take the dancers back a few decades where they may dance to the Ford Motor Company band. Mr. Johnson of Ford's will direct the Early American dancing in the Men's lounge.

Dancing is not the only thing in entertainment. For those to whom dancing is not enjoyable, the rooms of the second floor and the Alumni lounge will be prepared for various games. Bridge players will find everything ready for them and even the checker players will be allowed to start a game but they must promise to leave the building by 12:30.

Tickets for the event may be obtained from Mrs. Lyman or at the Union desk upon presentation of the student activities card and one thin American dime. It is strictly an all college affair. Only students enrolled here will be permitted to attend. Tickets are not transferable. Strict surveillance will be maintained to insure that only college students may attend. The small fee of ten cents is being assessed to cover the cost of refreshments which will be served to ticket-holders in the cafeteria. Students may come in couples or stag. The affair is informal.

In general such communications should be of a constructive nature and should represent a sincere and well considered opinion. Each must be signed by the writer. Personal controversies are clearly out of place.
The College has a number of Student and Faculty committees and administrative officers ready to attend to appropriate items and suggestions submitted to them. Obviously matters should be submitted to them directly to insure prompt consideration.
Such procedure makes for efficiency

Our Thanks

If we were loyal to precedent we would be eating turkey and reflecting on the virtues of our forefathers today. Instead, we ate turkey last week, if we were fortune-ate enough to afford such a luxury. And we ought to feel guilty, but we don't. We ate it and it tasted good, even though tradition says it should taste better today, November 30.

More than 20 states are triumphantly holding Thanksgiving today, in strict accordance with schedule.
To the governors and their followers in these states turkey and dressing have an added flavor today because Roosevelt asked the nation, in the interest of business (not dictatorship), to observe Thanksgiving a week ahead and thus lengthen the period between that holiday and Christmas.

Whether we enjoyed the holiday last week or are among those stubborn souls who are enjoying it today, we ought all to give thanks for a number of things. We should be thankful that we are not at war.
We should, in other words, be thankful that we are getting an education. We should, in other words, be thankful that we are alive, although at times it is rather difficult to give thanks for what might as well be taken for granted. We should be thankful for our 'daily bread'. Two slices for a nickel seem meager fare to the large number of us whose breakfast bill cannot exceed the grand total of 10 pennies, but we should be thankful anyhow. Ten cents is better than nothing. And remember, the privilege of attending college is well worth an impaired digestive system.

We as students do have a lot to be thankful for, and so it is with most any other class of citizens.
So we celebrate Thanksgiving, because we are thankful for a number of things. We are alive, we aren't starving, we aren't targeted in war, and we have ahead of us a world of opportunity—indeed, always ahead. And we live in America, which, if the people eating turkey today have any strength, will never be a dictator country.

House Presidents To Meet Tonight

House presidents will gather at boards.

Helen Weymouth is in charge of the meeting which will open with

Julia Snell Gets Uncensored Letter From Girl Correspondent In Germany

Although we have just finished celebrating Armistice Day with parades, dances, and parties, across the Atlantic they celebrated the occasion in a radically different manner. Germany, France, and Britain, after two months, are still at war and there seems to be no indication that it will end in the near future.

In the newspapers, magazines,
and over the radio the war scene has been painted as black as reasonable news will allow, but it is the natural prerogative of we neutrals to question the so called
"news" from the European front.
It is difficult for us, being so far away from the actual scene of hostilities, to distinguish between authentic news and misleading propaganda. However, with a letter from a person actively engaged in supporting the war—and a grain of salt—we can obtain a picture with a comfortable degree of certainty as to its truthfulness.

A little over a week ago, Julia Snell received a letter from a German girl with whom she has been corresponding for almost a year.
In this letter, which was uncensored
and uncensored, the German girl, Fraulein Mathilde Funken, after begging Miss Snell's pardon for not having written for some time, went on to give her opinions on the war and something of the life of the people in Germany while the war is in progress. Fraulein Funken said that she could see no reason for the continuance of the war by France and Great Britain when Poland, over whom the war was started, is no more. She said in part that for France, especially, there is no use in fighting because she can not hope to gain anything from the war. She directed her ire specifically at England saying,
"There is an old German proverb that England supplies the machines and the French supply their hearts." Fraulein Funken said further that England's only reason for fighting this foolish war is that she fears losing her worldly power by the expansion of Germany, but she said, "England need not fear for her power because Germany wishes nothing England has, but wishes only to regain her colonies which were stolen from her by the Treaty of Versailles in 1918!"

Following this, Fraulein Funken went on to tell something of the life of the German people behind the lines. She related that she, although not yet through high school, has applied for a position in the "Work-Service" of the Fatherland. If successful, she would receive her diploma immediately and go at once into some sort of war work. She wrote that the people are living an almost normal life. They hear nothing of the war and the only indication that the war is actually going on is that the prices on certain articles of food and clothing have risen since September. As yet, there has been no general conscription in the country. Fraulein Funken's two older brothers, Heinz and Joseph, are on the reserve list, Heinz being a reserve officer in the air corps and Joseph an infantry reserve, but neither have been called to the colors. Also, food is bought on ration cards, but she says, "If we ate all that is rationed to us, we would become fat."

A perhaps partial proof that these are the true conditions in Germany is the fact that at the end of her letter, Fraulein Funken asked Miss Snell to send a postcard immediately so that she would know whether the letter got through to the United States or not, and the letter not only got through war-torn Europe, but also it was not censored by either German or Allied censors.

Jimmy Walsh Rings Down Final Curtain On Athletic Competition For Hurons

The closing of the football season Saturday, November 18, brought to an end the athletic career of one of Michigan Normal's all-time greats, Jimmy Walsh. Jimmy has been a star in football, basketball, and baseball for the past three years, having captained the cagers last season.

Jimmy Walsh

Jimmy, standing only five feet six inches and weighing 142 pounds makes up for his lack of size with an over abundance of spirit and speed. Jim has never loafed a minute in any of the college contests in which he has taken part; he always has put everything he has into the game.

Jim scored about 400 points in his basketball career here at Ypsilanti. In every game, he has been the marked man; the opposing coach always puts his best guard on him. Jim is not only an expert shot, but an excellent team player. He never shoots when a teammate has a better shot at the hoop.

Jim's batting average in college is about .300, considered as very good hitting in college. Jim is considered a better fielder than a hitter. His regular position is that of an outfielder, but when Ray Stites needed a shortstop or second-baseman, Walsh came in and covered the position very creditably.

After the last Wayne game, Coach Joe Gembis remarked that he had never seen a football player pound for pound better than Walsh. Jim is a triple threat, being able to pass, punt, or run equally well. This year his punting has been exceptionally good, averaging about 40 yards per kick. After every game the rooters of the other school remark, "Who is that number 43 in Ypsi's backfield?"; he sure is good." Jimmy always amazes them with his daring runs. Jim is not only a ball carrier, but does more than his share of blocking.

His greatest thrill in college was derived from his 65 yard touchdown run in the last Wayne game, which provided the margin of victory. This was called by Tom Weeks, Wayne trainer, the best piece of open field running that he had ever seen.

Quinn Ends Season With Fourth Place In National Meet

Bringing his cross-country season to a brilliant close, Tommy Quinn finished fourth in the National Collegiate harrier championships over the four mile course at East Lansing last Monday. Michigan State won the team title and Michigan Normal finished sixth in the team standing.

Bob Lee, who has been following Quinn across the line in most of the meets this season, finished in 29th position. He was followed by Jack Hansma, 39; Warren Johnson, 42; Duane Zemper, 44; and Elmer Burnie, 49.

Walter Mehl of Wisconsin led the fast field across the line in the good time of 20:30.9 for the four miles. Evidence that the best in the nation was entered in the meet is shown by the clockings of the leaders at the mile-points of the race. The leader at the mile was clocked in 4:46, at the two mile point in 9:48, and at the three mile point in 15:06.

A week earlier in the National A. A. U. meet Quinn placed far back in the field in 17th place as Don Lash set a new record over the New Jersey course in winning the title for the sixth consecutive year. Tommy developed a stitch in his side after running three miles and had all he could do to finish the remaining three miles of the race.

LEE HARRIER CAPTAIN

Bob Lee was elected captain of the 1940 Huron cross-country team at a meeting of the harriers last night. Lee has been a consistent runner-up to Tommy Quinn and has won first places himself. He has just completed his second year of varsity competition.

Varsity Cagers Encounter Grads In Opening Game

The opening gun of Michigan Normal's basketball campaign will be fired tonight when the varsity squad, led by Joe Cook, squares off against the Alumni squad in the Central High gym. Tonight's game will present the 1939-1940 team for the first time under competitive fire.

From the shape of the Alumni lineup at present it will be more than a light barrage. The former stars of yesterday who will be back are Jim Walsh, Lou Wenger, Ed Engle, Martin Zachar, Walter Kazlusk, George Wendt, Cass Casucci, Waldo Ashley, and Christy Wilson. Not certain as yet are George Everett, Frank Worzniak, and Chuck Hanneman. From this imposing array the Alumni are expected to put up one of the toughest opening games in the last few years.

Facing the Alumni will be a squad considerably fortified by height from last year's freshman team. Ed Kontry, Burman Misenar, and Ken Hendy, are all looking good in early scrimmages. From last year the veterans returning are Cook, Davis, Yeager, Siera, Carlson, and Alfson. Ed Anczak, and Bill Ladd also like to mix it up under the basket when the going gets tough.

Varsity Trackmen Start Workouts For Indoor Season

Track candidates reported to varsity track coach Lloyd W. Olds and started working out for an active indoor season when the Briggs field house was opened for the cinder men's work outs early this week.

This year's squad faces a more than usual busy season in which dual meets have been arranged with the University of Michigan and Michigan State College.

Re-inforced by a powerful and speedy brigade of sophomores in the sprints, middle-distance, distances, and hurdles, Captain Leroy Grindle had an optimistic note in his voice in predicting the outcome of the approaching season.

An example of the type of material sent up by last year's freshman class is the State A. A. U. mile relay championship team of Brzezinski, Paris, Gildenstein and Kagan.

Walt Siera Picked By Team To Captain '40 Grid Season

Husky Half-Back Did Not Play Prep School Football Because Parents Refused To Give Consent

At a meeting of the varsity football squad last Wednesday Walt Siera, Hamtramck, was elected captain of the 1940 Michigan State Normal College football team. Siera has played half-back on the Huron squad for the past two seasons and has established himself as one of the outstanding collegiate athletes in this state.

In addition to playing football, Siera is a mainstay on the basketball team and baseball squad.

Walt sprang into the center of athletic glory after he entered college; for during his high school days he was not permitted to go out for football because his mother refused to sign the athletic participation permit required by the Hamtramck public schools. Time and time again Walt tried to persuade his mother to allow him to go out for football; but always fearing that he might be injured, she continued to refuse.

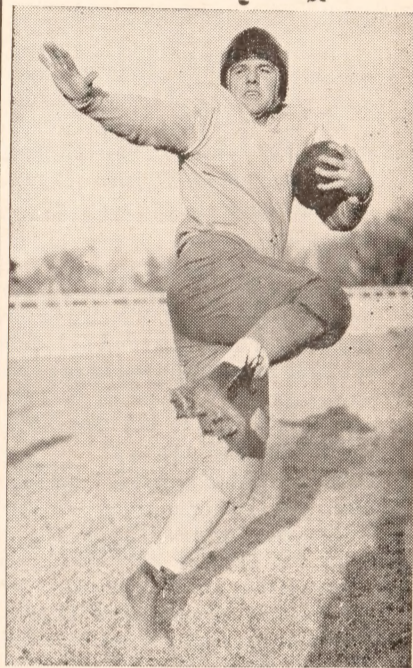

Unable to compete in football, Walt played the cello in the school orchestra. He also played the flute and in the band he played the piccolo. Contemporaries of Walt during his high school days, insist that he was really quite a musician. Walt passes it off lightly now, preferring to be known as an athlete than as a musician. He says the only reason he played the piccolo in the band was so that he could put his instrument in his pocket and watch the football game.

When Walt came to Michigan Normal, he immediately went out for freshman football. All the energy and enthusiasm that had been stored up in him for football during his prep school days was released and he ran rough-shod over the varsity.

He climbed up into the varsity ranks and still remained a star. His kicking, passing, and sensational running provided plenty of worrying for all opponents.

When asked what his greatest thrill in football was, Walt replied, "In having my picture taken." But then in a more serious tone he was persuaded to admit that the game against Wayne at homecoming last year provided him with most of his football thrills. His family and a friend from Hamtramck were in the stands and Walt gave them plenty to be proud of. His biggest thrill in athletics came in a baseball game against the University of Michigan when he hit a homer. Walt recalled with pride how the crack of the bat rang out and the ball went sailing over the fence. It was a great feeling.

Walt Siera

He intends to coach athletics upon graduation but if an attractive professional offer comes his way, he will accept and continue in athletics a while before settling down to coaching.

Women's Athletics

The volley-ball and badminton tournaments are now well underway. Most of the games and matches have been very close making the tournaments very interesting. Tournament play is held on every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7:30 P. M. Schedules will be found in the girl's locker room.

o o o o

The interclass hockey tournament ended two weeks ago when the freshmen and sophomore game again ended in a tie. This time there was no score. There will be no other game so these two teams are both in first place in the final standings. The juniors occupy second place, and the seniors third. The tournament was very successfully conducted with more than one hundred girls reporting for play.

Any girl willing to help with the officiating of the volleyball games on Tuesday and Thursday evenings should contact Celia Shapiro.

Girls' Swimming Meet To Be At Roosevelt

On Monday, December 11, at the Roosevelt pool, the mermaids of the campus will hold their annual swimming meet. Class managers will organize the teams and a final practice will be held in Roosevelt pool. The date for this practice is not yet decided but will be announced at a later date.

Hurons Defeated By Bowling Green In Season Finale

Losing an early lead, the Hurons fell victim to the powerful Bowling Green eleven in a hard fought battle, 23 to 13, Saturday, November 18, at Briggs Field and brought to a close the leanest season since coach Elton Ryneearson assumed the reins as varsity football mentor.

Normal struck with unexpected fury in the first quarter to ring up thirteen points on spectacular sprints by Walt Siera. After an exchange of kicks Ypsi took the ball on the Falcon 46, from where Siera scored on the second play from scrimmage with an off-tackle smash. Behind four man blocking he went the distance to the goal line. Walsh converted the extra point.

On the second play of the second stanza Siera intercepted Wellner's pass, which was partially knocked down by Borovich, and romped down the sidelines for 50 yards and a touchdown. Walsh's attempted conversion went wide of the goal posts.

Bowling Green came back with a rush, scoring in the same quarter on a five yard pass. Shortly before the half, a Normal fumble behind the goal line added two more points to the Falcon total, when Borovich was tackled in the end zone trying to run the ball out.

In the third quarter the Ohio team put the game on ice with two well tossed passes, from the 33 yard line and the 36. The small Huron backs could not solve the Falcon pass offense, and Bowling Green completed successful passes for long gains behind the accurate throwing of Brudzinski.

The Hurons ended the season with a record of three wins, three losses, and one tie for a .500 average.

Intramural Dept. Postpones Fights

The Intramural department announced late Monday afternoon that the annual traditional wrestling and boxing tournaments have been called off indefinitely, due to a lack of proper equipment.

In past years the All-College championship tournaments attracted a great deal of college and local notice. They marked a high spot in the student life eagerly forward to on the campus. The announcement came as a great disappointment to the students intending to participate. Fifty to sixty men have spent the last two weeks getting into shape for the bouts.

Lacking the right kind of equipment, a cover for the mat, and an enclosed ring, the department decided to call off the tournaments rather than endanger contestants fighting under such conditions.

In the men's contest, with Charles McFadden representing Ypsilanti Normal in the preliminaries, Charles Sparks of Michigan State won top honors, Lawrence Gosser from Western State won second, and Bruce Mellinger from Alma took the white ribbon. Nine prominent colleges were represented in the state-wide contest.

grade critic teacher. She continued in this capacity until 1923, when President Charles McKenny and Professor Mark Jefferson invited her to join the faculty of the geography department. Miss Wilson was appointed to an associate professorship, later being promoted to the status of a full professor, which position she retained until her death.

An outstanding worker in her field, Miss Wilson has long been tendered much admiration for her meritorious service. A tireless student, after receiving her A. B. degree from Michigan State Normal, she obtained her master's degree from the University of Michigan. Thereafter she studied at Cornell University, Columbia University, and Cambridge in England, besides doing more advance work at the University of Michigan. An ardent traveler, she supplemented her formal schooling with travel here and abroad, never losing sight of her aims to give breadth and variety to her background as a teacher.

A member of the American Geographical Society, she made innumerable contributions to the meetings of the group and to its periodical. Endowed with generosity and a fine mind, Miss Wilson made constant contributions of her ability and other resources to the community and to the college.

A woman with an unusually fine mind, as student in the highest sense of the word, she loved to study and teach.

Club To Revive Geoffrey Chaucer

English Students Plan
To Dramatize Works

Geoffrey Chaucer lived many long years ago in Medieval England, but he is being revived by members of the English Club and will be presented at their next meeting which will be in the Alumni lounge of McKenny Hall, starting at 7:30 next Wednesday evening.

Chaucer and his Canterbury Pilgrims have long been a dread to students merely because of a complete lack of understanding on the part of the students. In reality Chaucer is as modern as any writer in the English language can be.

His humor, his poetry, and his fine knowledge of people as evidenced through his acute observations of them are only a few of the outstanding factors which bring Chaucer right down to the twentieth century. The members of the club will attempt to introduce the Chaucer that they know and enjoy in order that others may, too, find pleasure and enjoyment in him.

A similar dramatization of Sir Walter Scott and Jane Austen meeting in a typical 19th Century setting was presented at the last meeting of the club at the home of Miss Rankin. It met with such success that Lenora Haab, vice-president and social chairman of the organization, did not hesitate at all in selecting Chaucer to be the theme of the meeting.

All English majors and minors are invited to attend the meeting. "Invited" is a rather weak word, asserts the president of the club, who insists that "expected" should be substituted for it.
